Your government continues to work for you.

Administrative annex remains under construction via SPLOST funds

Health Department also makes progress

The future of the health department's current building, located at 953 Barrows Ferry Rd., NE, in Milledgeville, is already in discussion. The structure can be repurposed to house the county's University of Georgia Extension Service, currently located at 320 Linda Dr., NE. The facility has the potential to house additional county services.

Health department staff are excited for this chance to greatly improve their capability to serve the residents of Baldwin County. Baldwin County Health Department and North Central Health District will provide regular updates throughout the duration of this project.

County residents will continue to receive public health services from Baldwin County Health Department at its current location. For more information on health department services, call 478-445-4274 or visit NCHD52.org/Services.

21% That's how many in Baldwin County have responded to the Census. We can do better for the future of our community.

Forms for the 2020 U.S. Census should have been received by mail. Being counted means securing funding and ensuring fair representation in Congress.

It's easy! Complete the questionnaire by phone by calling 844-330-2020

Respond online by going to 2020census.gov

Why respond to the Census?

Why do we need TSPLOST?

Baldwin County has 411 miles of roads. At the current funding level that provides for 6.5 miles of repaving per year, each road will be repaved every 64 years. With a TSPLOST, the county would be looking at a 20-year plan, meaning every road would be repaved every 20 years.
